2019 Annual Report

A fair and just Colorado for all.
Dear Friends,

As we launch into One Colorado’s decade anniversary as an organization, I find myself in awe of the progress Colorado has made toward achieving LGBTQ equality. I joined the organization as a youth program coordinator, just a year after it was founded. At the time, we were in a tough fight to pass civil unions. If you would have told me then where we would be today, I don’t know if I could have imagined it.

Nationwide marriage equality, advancements in HIV prevention, removing barriers for transgender and nonbinary Coloradans to update identity documents, banning the practice of conversion therapy, a vibrant LGBTQ community across the state—these achievements at one point seemed like a distant hope. To everyone who has been part of our movement, you have made this a reality.

While we have much to be grateful for, we know the work is far from over. With a federal administration that attacks the rights of LGBTQ Americans almost daily, disguising hate with religious liberty and denying our mere existence, we must continue to lead the way in Colorado and serve as a model for equality.

The next year will have a lasting impact on the direction of our movement. We have the chance to pass pro-equality legislation, improve school environments for LGBTQ youth, advance transgender rights and equality, and address the disparities in LGBTQ health. Thank you for fighting along side us. Here’s to another decade.

With gratitude,

Daniel Ramos

A MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dear Friends,

As we launch into One Colorado’s decade anniversary as an organization, I find myself in awe of the progress Colorado has made toward achieving LGBTQ equality. I joined the organization as a youth program coordinator, just a year after it was founded. At the time, we were in a tough fight to pass civil unions. If you would have told me then where we would be today, I don’t know if I could have imagined it.

Nationwide marriage equality, advancements in HIV prevention, removing barriers for transgender and nonbinary Coloradans to update identity documents, banning the practice of conversion therapy, a vibrant LGBTQ community across the state—these achievements at one point seemed like a distant hope. To everyone who has been part of our movement, you have made this a reality.

While we have much to be grateful for, we know the work is far from over. With a federal administration that attacks the rights of LGBTQ Americans almost daily, disguising hate with religious liberty and denying our mere existence, we must continue to lead the way in Colorado and serve as a model for equality.

The next year will have a lasting impact on the direction of our movement. We have the chance to pass pro-equality legislation, improve school environments for LGBTQ youth, advance transgender rights and equality, and address the disparities in LGBTQ health. • “Excellence in Community Engagement with LGBTQIA Communities” from the Council on Social Work Education and the Council on Sexual Orientation, Gender Identity and Expression

• “Community Trailblazer Award” from the Community Resource Center

• Colorado is ranked among top states for LGBTQ equality with regards to law and policy in the Human Rights Campaign’s annual “State Equality Index Report.” One Colorado was also featured in the report.
LGBTQ individuals face several unique challenges that affect the ability to live healthy and affirmed lives. Lack of understanding, discrimination, stigma, violence, higher rates of health problems, and other barriers can compound and produce worse health outcomes. OCEF works to address these issues through policy and advocacy, community education, and improving data collection.

Closing the Gap: A Turing Point for LGBTQ Health

OCEF conducted a multi-method survey of the health needs and experiences of more than 2,500 LGBTQ Coloradans. Published in 2019, the report:

- Serves as a comparison to the data collected and reported by OCEF in 2011;
- Identifies a gap between the legal and lived equality of LGBTQ Coloradans;
- Reveals that transgender Coloradans continue to experience worse health outcomes and greater disparities compared to their LGBQ counterparts;
- Provides recommendations for individuals, community organizations, providers, health systems, and policy makers to improve health outcomes for the LGBTQ community.

OCEF published 3 health insurance buyer’s guides to increase patient literacy while purchasing health insurance during open enrollment. These include:

- Transgender Health Insurance Buyer’s Guide
- Hormone Therapy Prescription Coverage Guide
- PrEP and HIV Prescription Coverage Guide

“If One Colorado wasn’t doing this work around LGBTQ health care, I think our state would be much further behind than it is. Even though we still don’t have enough, we wouldn’t have access to as many competent providers as we do in Colorado.”
Schools are often places where LGBTQ young people don’t feel safe or included. In Colorado, 7 out of 10 students are harassed based on their sexual orientation. It is important that we work to build a climate across our state where LGBTQ students can be out, safe, and respected in their schools.

- In 2019, Colorado school districts finally reached 100% compliance with the “School Bullying Prevention and Education Grant Program” (HB11-1254), an anti-bullying law passed in 2011 that requires all school districts to create strict policies and procedures to prevent bullying.
- OCEF relaunched the GSA (Gender & Sexuality Alliance) Leadership Council, which brings together high school and college age students from all corners of Colorado. The Leadership Council consists of nine members, who facilitate the growth and development of its members as advocates for LGBTQ youth and supports the Colorado GSA Network.
- The Colorado GSA Network seeks to strengthen the statewide coalition of GSA clubs and develop the next generation of LGBTQ leaders. In 2019, the Colorado GSA Network grew to 270 school clubs.
- OCEF hosted four GSA Leadership Summits in Fort Collins, Denver, Colorado Springs, and Grand Junction to enhance student’s advocacy skills and ability to develop and grow GSAs at their schools. The summits had a total of 290 attendees, including students, educators, and parents.

“To see LGBTQ people in positions in leadership shows me that I can have a future in leadership.”

OCEF educates the public about the positions of elected officials and holds them accountable for their positions on LGBTQ equality. We monitor and support state legislation, working to pass pro-LGBTQ equality bills and defeat any attack on our hard-fought victories. We promote legislation that will ensure equality for all LGBTQ Coloradans and their families.

Pro-LGBTQ Equality Bills Passed in 2019

- “Prohibit Conversion Therapy for A Minor” (HB19-1129) protects LGBTQ youth from the dangerous and discredited practice of attempting to change a child’s sexual orientation or gender identity.
- “Jude’s Law” (HB19-1039): removes barriers for transgender and non-binary Coloradans to update their identity documents to reflect their authentic selves.
- “Inclusion Of American Minorities In Teaching Civil Government” (HB19-1192) ensures that LGBTQ youth of color will be able to see themselves in history curriculums.
- “Youth Mental Health Education And Suicide Prevention” (HB19-1120) helps LGBTQ youth get the support they need by allowing youth as young as 12 to access mental health care.
- “Comprehensive Human Sexuality Education” (HB19-1032) prohibits instruction from using stigmatizing language or instructional tools, employing gender stereotypes, or excluding the health needs of LGBTQ individuals.

Anti-LGBTQ Bills Blocked in 2019

- “Live And Let Live Act” (HB19-1140) would have allowed LGBTQ discrimination in nearly every area of public life, based on one’s own religious beliefs.

“I’ve really learned the power of one person’s voice and how much it can affect other people, how much it can spark other people’s voices in the community. Sometimes you just need one person to start a path and other people will join it.”
Every year, One Colorado continues to increase our capacity and expand our reach. We are so grateful to our donors and volunteers, who have helped us continue the work of creating a fair and just state for all LGBTQ Coloradans and their families!
